

Boissiera

Instructions for authors

(version January 2016)

Boissiera was first published in 1936 as “Mémoires du Conservatoire de botanique et de l’Institut de botanique de l’Université de Genève (supplément de Candolle)”. This series is a supplement to Candollea aiming to publish lengthy original research papers focusing on the systematics, morphology, chorology and ecology of plants. Boissiera is an international peer-reviewed journal that publishes original scientific memoirs, preferably in English but also in French. Spanish language manuscripts will be evaluated only if linked to scientific projects involving the Conservatoire et Jardin botaniques de Genève.

Each manuscript will be evaluated by the Editorial board and peer reviewed by international experts specifically appointed for this task. Their opinion and/or reviews and the editor’s decision will be communicated to the authors. Authors are requested to respect legal procedures and authorizations for the collection of plant material and data. The Editorial board reserves the right to reject a manuscript, prior to review, in cases of clear violations of ethical considerations or obvious non-compliance with the instructions for authors for Boissiera.

Manuscripts should be submitted as a single *.doc or *.docx file by e-mail to the Editor-in-chief (candollea.cjb@ville-ge.ch). Illustrations should be submitted as low-resolution images in a separate file and should not be inserted in the text. Tables should be submitted in *.xls or *.xlsx format. Manuscripts submitted must follow style and editorial standards of Boissiera.

The authors are requested to conform to the following standards:

Structure

- Title (concise and informative)
- Name(s) and first name(s) of author(s), followed by their full professional address(es) and e-mail for the corresponding author
- Abstract (max. 200 words) in English and in French if the audience is relevant (articles submitted in French or Spanish should always include an abstract in the language of the text and an English abstract)
- Keywords (list of 4-7 in English), precede the main text
- Acknowledgements (including all relevant permissions and authorisations)
- References are ordered alphabetically by authors and corresponding to references given in the text (see below);
- Captions for the figures and tables.

Abbreviations

Titles of periodicals and floras must be abbreviated according to Botanico-Periodicum-Huntianum (HUNT, 2004; available online at <http://www.huntbotanical.org/databases/show.php?1>). Titles of books given in the main text must follow those in Taxonomic Literature, ed. 2 (STAFLEU & COWAN, 1976-1988; available online at <http://www.sil.si.edu/digitalcollections/tl-2>). The authors of taxa must be abbreviated according to BRUMMITT & POWELL (1992) and its updates online (IPNI database available at <http://www.ipni.org/ipni/authorsearchpage.do>). Scientific names of taxa must be in accordance with McNEILL et al. (2012) [International Code of Nomenclature (Melbourne Code), available online at <http://www.iapt-taxon.org/nomen/main.php>] and are, irrespective of rank, consistently printed in italic type, as recommended by the Code.

Citations

The name of an author referenced in main text should be given in small capitals:

CANDOLLE (1813), (CANDOLLE, 1813), CANDOLLE (1813, 1831), (CANDOLLE, 1813, 1831), LAMARCK & CANDOLLE (1805), (LAMARCK, 1778; CANDOLLE, 1813), CANDOLLE et al. (1836), CANDOLLE (1813: 28) or CANDOLLE (1813: Fig. 2).

Types and material examined

The citation of types or herbarium specimens must be given according to the following format: locality (from the protologue or specimen label), geographic coordinates (if present), collecting date, collector(s) name(s) and number, herbarium code(s) (barcodes should be embedded in square brackets and a dash should be inserted before an accession number):

Illustrations and Tables

Figures (cited as Fig. 1; Fig. 2A; Fig. 3A, 5B; Fig. 3-5) are numbered consecutively, in Arabic numerals, in each paper (including drawings, photographs, diagrams and maps). The same applies to tables (Table 1, Table 2 etc.). A metric scale must be associated with each figure. The reproduction of illustrations that have already been published elsewhere is to be avoided. If, however, for special reasons it is necessary to do so, it is the author's task to obtain the required copyrights. After the formal acceptance of a manuscript the final illustrations should be submitted in electronic format (*.eps, *.tif). The minimum resolution of 600 dpi is required for greyscale or colour illustrations and 1200 dpi for bitmap black and white line illustrations. Colour illustrations are reproduced in colour in the online PDF, and in either colour or greyscale, at the Editor's discretion, in the print edition.

Offprints and Copyright

Five free of charge copies will be provided to the authors. Further copies up to fifty can be supplied at 30% discount on written request before the impression process.

Contributors tacitly agree to cede their authors' rights to the Conservatoire et Jardin botaniques publishers. This transfer becomes effective from the moment that the authors receive confirmation of the acceptance of their manuscript for publication. Intellectual property of the published scientific papers remains with the authors.
